IT INSURES SOULS.

Novel Organization Founded by Father Durin of Depere.

PROTECTION FOR SIXFUL SOULS.

Members Assured of Masses on the Payment of an Annual Fee Interview With Father Durin in Regard to The Society Mentioned.

DEPERE, Wis., May 20.—Worldly agents enter people into schemes which promise reimbursement for losses by fire and water, to compensate the assured for the pain and loss of time due to bodily injury by accident, or to equip bereft families for the unequal battle with the world by the payment of a stated sum on the policy-holder, Father Durin, of St. Joseph's Catholic church, of this city, goes a big stride in advance of any of these schemes. His plan involves the saving of the soul of the assured after death.

The parent organization is known as "The Deliverance Society," with head office at St. Joseph's rectory. Rev. J. F. Durin being manager. The prospectus of the society states that it is organized on the same principle as a mutual assurance society. The offering for admission fee is twenty-five cents, and the annual contribution ten cents. "There will be no reserve fund," it states, "but all contributions will be immediately employed in the celebration of masses for the deliverance of the souls in purgatory."

To a reporter to say Father Durin said the "Deliverance Society" was entirely original with him, and that it grew out of his exceedingly strong belief in purgatory as a place where the venial sins of the departed can be expiated and their souls assisted therefrom through the prayers of good Catholics. He said the scheme an application of business principles to spiritual matters. Companies are effective in saving their members from losses by fire or accident; so, in a similar manner, he seeks in this society to unite the efforts of members of the Catholic church to save the soul of any one of their number who might, through carelessness or ignorance, have committed some venial sin, which, although not deserving punishment in hell, would prevent their entrance to heaven. The society has already a membership of several hundred, and Father Durin says it is endorsed strongly by his superiors.

The committee on resolutions met after the adjournment and organized by making a list of members of Minnesota. The committee did not get to work in earnest for a considerable time and no one appeared to know how long it would take to conclude the labors and reconcile, if such a thing were possible, the conflicting elements. Gen. Weaver and other members of the committee, who emerged at intervals from the committee room, predicted that the committee would do its work harmoniously, and said that the St. Louis platform would be taken as a basis upon which to proceed. There were all sorts of planks to be proposed and each one would have to be fully aired.

The committee on permanent organization selected Senator Peffer for permanent chairman, and there was much rejoicing over a result which came from it. Peffer was chosen on the second ballot, and then all the other applicants for the honor were made vice chairmen. They are all prominent men. Hugh Kavanagh, of Cincinnati, a leading member of the Knights of Labor, is Peffer's president of the National Farmers' Alliance, and Gideon Delamater, of Ohio, an old-time greenbacker. The claim is made that there is much strength added to the new party movement by the fact that any of these persons could be called to the chair when questions affecting their organization were under consideration.

Senator Peffer, of Kansas, was the orator of the evening at the mass meeting which began about 8 o'clock. The senator amid a storm of applause began at once his speech. His voice with its sonorous tones and explosive bursts was used deliberately and was apparently heard easily throughout the hall.

He said the people before him were harbingers of a revolution that would dethrone money and reestablish the authority of the people. It was a movement not to destroy but to create; not to tear down but build up; not to destroy the wealth of the rich but to restore to labor its just reward. Referring to the placard on the balcony of the hall, "Nine Million Mortgage Homes," he said that told volumes. "But," he said, "I am met with the charge that the men themselves should have kept out of debt. This was an assertion not pertinent. If a child is sick unto death," said he, "the father does not upbraid him with impudence, but calls a physician and saves the child's life first. We want to save our lives first. The disease of mortal usury must be cured."

Growing more fervid in his manner the speaker said: "What shall we do with the money power? Let it alone. We'll raise up a power among the people and make our own money and use it. Tremendous applause. Times their roads? No. We'll build our own roads. [Renewed applause.] Are we to destroy? No. To fight? Yes, with ballots and prayer, for the alliance is in a great measure taking the place of the churches."

Mr. Peffer closed by giving the new party a great boom like this: "Does this mean a new party? (Cries of 'Yes.') What else are we hear for? [Applause.] The prophecy of the hour is that a new party is to be born here and its name is to be the 'national party.'" [Applause.]

The next speaker was one who had not been advertised, but who received a greeting that seemed to raise the rafters of the hall. It was General Master Workman Powderly. He began by declaring that he could say amen to every word Mr. Peffer and Mr. Wilkin had voiced. Continuing, he said with animation: "For twenty years men who have followed that banner pointing to a Knights of Labor flag in the rear of the stage have taught, believed and held these truths. It has been said, 'I have been a member of the party, but I have not been a member of the party.' Lead this movement. My friends, this movement is too large to be led by any one man. (Cheers.) No one man can lead it or stop it." [Wild applause.]

Mr. Powderly then recounted his connection with efforts to fraternize the knights with other organizations at the meeting in Ocala, Fla., and later at Washington, and spoke of coming meetings in July next and in February of next year at which he predicted a fuller representation would be present than was present in this conference. Especially would there be a fuller representation from the sunny south. "And to the south let me say," he warmly interjected, "when you recognize the 'nigger' as a man we the east will join with you heart and hand for reform."

Mr. Powderly went on to warn the conference against undue haste. No president could be elected this time if it were tried. Speaking to the Kansas situation, he said they did not understand the situation in his part of the country, where ignorant foreigners were brought to the polls and not 3 by number. Kansas had an intelligent constituency. Pennsylvania required patient education and the success of the reform movement depended upon the education of the people.

When the convention was called to order all joined in singing "America." Rev. D. T. Foster, of Cincinnati, now invoked the throne of grace, beseeching victory against the powers of evil in the name of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The delegates repeated with him the Lord's Prayer.

Capt. Power, of Indiana, then read the official call for this conference and requested the various organizations there named to rise as their names were called, which was done, applause greeting the appearance of ex-federal and confederate soldiers, also the Farmers' Alliance, which showed great strength. Next came the Citizens' Alliance and the Knights of Labor, the Colored Farmers' Alliance, which Mr. Power stated were a million strong, and ever ready to do battle. Hearty applause greeted each.

There was only one incident in the conference in the afternoon that was significant of what will be done. When the appointment of committees was before the house, Ignatius Donnelly moved to appoint a member of the national committee from each state. He said he took it for granted that a new party would be organized. This sentiment was received with deafening cheers and twenty men seconded the motion. Gen. Weaver objected to the selection of such a committee, he said it was unfair to the delegates, who had had no opportunity to discuss the third party question, and the conference had no right to do any such thing. The cogency of Weaver's argument had its effect, and the inevitable was postponed until later.

The following names were adopted as members of the committee on resolutions, with instructions to go into session immediately and prepare the convention's platform:

Arkansas, J. O. Bush; California, H. E. Dill; Colorado, E. G. Carter; Connecticut, Robert Shinn; South Dakota, Charles M. Fea; District of Columbia, D. A. Bland; Georgia, F. C. Post; Illinois, James M. Blair; Indiana, M. C. Rankin; Iowa, J. B. Weaver; Kansas, J. G. Otis; Kentucky, L. D. Dustin; Maine, W. D. Smith; Massachusetts, W. A. Green; Michigan, Mrs. S. E. Y. Emery; Minnesota, Ignatius Donnelly; Missouri, Everett Leonard; Nebraska, J. E. Powers; New York, William Henry; Ohio, John Smith; Pennsylvania, F. A. Weaver; Rhode Island, B. Baldest; Tennessee, H. B. Osborne; Texas, J. H. Davis; West Virginia, Virgil A. Gains; Wisconsin, Robert Schilling; Wyoming, H. E. Shivers.

LOVE NOT ENOUGH.

OTHER NOTES FROM THE COURTS.

The Old Pickle Factory Made a Resort For "Can Rushers"—Thomas Nash Discharged—A Brisk Evening For Michael Griffin's Family.

James Clough was granted a divorce from Margaret Clough by Judge Bennett this morning, the grounds being desertion. The parties reside at Footville.

Mr. Clough did not deny having left her husband, but insisted that she had all she wanted of love in a very sparsely furnished cottage.

Gave His Family a Bad Night.

Michael Griffin was sentenced to five days in jail by Judge Patterson this morning. Griffin gets drunk and then raises hob with his family. Marshal Acheson was called out at 12 o'clock last night to take Griffin to jail. This morning the sinner was penitent, but it was too late, and at noon his season of wood sawing began.

Nash Didn't Pound McConnell.

Thomas Nash who was arrested by Marshal Acheson, charged with helping pound Brakesman Frank McConnell, this morning faced Judge Patterson in the municipal court. It was shown however, that Nash was only a bystander, and McConnell admitted after the complaint was made, that Nash did not have anything to do with the row, and he was discharged with a reprimand.

A Resort For Hard Young Men.

The old pickle factory is getting to be quite a resort for Janesville's tough element. They sit around, drink beer and have a high old time. The sentencing of Darb Griffin and John Connors has caused a vacancy in the ranks and when Marshal Acheson called on them yesterday there were only three of the guests present. They had a pail of beer, but the appearance of the marshal cut the festivities short.

DROUTH IN WISCONSIN.

Corn Land in Bad Condition and Grain Not Germinated.

MILWAUKEE, May 20.—W. H. Morrison, the farm institute man, says that the drouth in Wisconsin is becoming a serious matter. Almost a quarter of the small grain sown has not germinated, and corn land, where there is a clay soil, is in bad condition. Mr. Morrison is at present engaged in getting out the annual bulletin, and expects to issue from 40,000 to 50,000 copies.

NO SOUTHERN JUSTICE THERE.

South Dakota's courts are of different fibre from those of New Orleans. While the southern tribunal has been trying hard to cover the tracks of jury bribes because they are white men and voters the grand jury in Meade county has returned indictments against the cowardly cowboys who murdered the friendly Indian, Few Tails, last winter and it now looks as if the United States army would court martial the four troopers of the Seventh cavalry who deliberately shot down a helpless Ogalala woman and her three children. The Indian sense of justice and the white man's sense of fair play agree in the opinion that if Plenty Horses, the Indian, is to be tried and punished for shooting Lieutenant Casey, then the white men must be brought to trial who deliberately shot down Indians.

WHAT AILS THE BOYS?

Are American boys of the rising generation a credit to their sires? The examples that came from Washington would lead many to doubt. General Franz Sigel was never so deeply wounded in battle as by the defection of his son, his confidential secretary, and General Green R. Raum was never so pained by the malice of partisan attacks upon his sterling character and well-earned reputation for integrity and ability as when it was discovered that his own son, his assistant chief clerk, was guilty of office brokerage. Two worthy sires, two disgraced sons; two able, honorable, patriotic citizens, humiliated, broken in spirit and pitilessly sacrificed by dishonest, ungrateful and un-filial heirs. It is not a good showing.

BEET SUGAR IN JEFFERSON.

A company of farmers in Jefferson and Dodge counties this state have taken the lead of Rock county agriculturists by forming a club for discussion and experimental tests, especially in the cultivation of the sugar beet. Their plan is eventually to build a factory and refinery for the production of sugar from beets. The club has a president, three vice presidents, secretary, treasurer, and five directors. The directors select the subjects for discussion and appoint members to write or speak, and no political discussions are allowed. Why don't Rock county farmers stir themselves? If there is to be any money in the manufacture of beet sugar, we want our friends to realize it.

Nothing more encouraging or more eloquent was said by President Harrison in all of his 100 excellent speeches than when in closing he remarked: "I have seen enough American flags to wrap the world around." It was an epigrammatic way of saying that nothing had been so impressive in all the long, interesting, enthusiastic journey as the magnificent spirit of patriotism evinced everywhere, by everybody from Washington to Los Angeles and Puget Sound and back to Washington.

Australia will be an independent republic to all intents and purposes, but the queen of England, represented by the governor general, will be the figurehead of the Australian commonwealth. The governor general will have nothing whatever to do but look dignified, draw pay and enjoy his leisure. The people of Australia will be governed by themselves. It is a curious combination of the English and American forms of government.

But what is the matter with the Madison Democrat and the Oshkosh Times? The other day they were defending the Dodge law vigorously. Then the German Catholic organs took a turn at them, and now they are falling head over heels in their effort to get back where they started. They are right down on their knees, and are explaining that if anyone so desires the law will be repealed at once.

Dr. John Hall has $20,000 a year as pastor of the Presbyterian church in New York, and he has over $50,000 from other sources. He is estimated to have laid up over earthly treasures to over a million dollars. He believes there is errancy in the common understanding of the passage about going through the eye of the needle.

Mexico is to revolutionize her revenue system. It is proposed to abolish all export duties. This is the result of the pan-American congress which opened the eyes of our sister republic to the absurdity of imposing an embargo upon her outgoing commerce.

Next they will be casting slurs at the morality of Webster's spelling book. Nobody supposed that E. P. Roe's works were above commonplace, but it has been reserved for a New York Sunday school to pronounce them unfit for the perusal of youth.

Janesville people will feel keenly the "spell of weather" that has blasted the strawberry crop. Rock county berries are widely known for their flavor and quality, and the amount of revenue they furnish is by no means inconsiderable.

A Kansas man has a stirring and charming lecture upon the "Beauties of Home Life." While he was delivering it recently his wife eloped with another man. Perhaps she had not heard the lecture.

Any prophet who can give assurances that there will be nothing but rain in Rock county for the next three days, can run for congress on the farmers' alliance ticket and be elected.

BADGER STATE FOLK.

Rev. Edward H. Smith, a Congregational pastor in Oshkosh, stirred his flock by advising the opening of the World's fair on Sundays.

J. B. Roe, of Oshkosh, has contributed to The Scientific American an article on "Facts About the Fertilization of Our Fruits."

Professor C. R. Beach, superintendent of the Madison schools, and Judge J. H. Carpenter were fown from a buggy in Madison yesterday. Professor Beach is feared to have sustained internal injuries.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.
An Indian by Adoption.

MRS. CONVERSE.
Mrs. Harriet Maxwell Converse, the authoress, is an "Injun" by adoption of the Iroquois or Six Nations of New York. Her grandfather was adopted by the Senecas, part of the Iroquois confederation, in 1792, and her father in 1804; but she owes the honor to her persistent and successful opposition to the New York assembly bill No. 544. This bill provided for abrogating all treaties and putting Indians and their lands under the general state law. She is the first white woman to be honored with a seat in the council since the death of the celebrated Mary Jamison, who in 1775 was captured by the Indians at the age of thirteen, who remained with them twenty years and was interpreter at the making of many treaties. Mrs. Converse's Seneca name is Ga-yah-nis-hah-oh, or "Dearest of the Law."

THEIR FAITH.

Principal Points in the Report of the Revision Committee of the Presbyterian General Assembly—Calvinism Left Unimpaired.

DETROIT, Mich., May 20.—The Presbyterian general assembly, which meets here to-day, will receive a report from the committee appointed a year ago to revise the Westminster confession of faith. The chairman of the committee is President W. C. Roberts, of Lake Forest university. The committee frankly admits that its recommendations will not satisfy everyone. The conservative members of the church who opposed all revision of the creed will read with satisfaction that at the outset it was decided that "no alterations or amendments be proposed that would in any way impair the integrity of the reformed or Calvinistic system of doctrine taught in the confession." Having laid down this rule the work of the committee was simplified. If the report as presented be adopted the aim of the committee "to bridge over the gulf that appears to lie between the spirit of the confession and that of our church in these latter days" will be reached. Two chapters have been inserted, one relating to the work of the Holy Spirit and the other to universal need of the Gospel. The greatest change in the book, as was expected, has taken place in the third chapter, which treats of the eternal decrees. This has been recast rather than rewritten, and expressions of objection are considerable by so many have disappeared. The new confession has nothing to say about men and angels being "fore-ordained to everlasting death," but it will require a theological mind to see the distinction between "to pass by" and "not to elect unto everlasting life," the latter being the new reading. The reference to "infants dying in infancy" has been modified. One of the changes which will meet with general approval is the general confessional statement regarding Roman Catholics. They are no longer called "papists" and "idolaters," but they are included among "the adherents of false religions."

THE COMMERCIAL CONGRESS.
Over 1,000 Delegates in Attendance at the Denver Meeting.

DENVER, Col., May 20.—At 10 o'clock a. m. the trans-Mississippi commercial congress was called to order by Col. William Fishback, temporary president. The roll-call showed over 1,000 delegates to be in attendance from every western state and territory. Gov. Routt, on behalf of the state of Colorado, delivered an address of welcome, while Mayor Rogers followed on behalf of Denver.

During the day speeches were delivered by ex-Gov. Anthony, of Kansas; Mayor Shakespeare, of New Orleans, and ex-Senator Tabor, of Colorado. The trans-Mississippi commercial organization will report this morning. It is understood that the report will be as follows: Chairman, ex-Gov. Anthony, of Kansas; secretary, C. A. Atkins, of Nebraska; assistant secretaries, E. B. Forsyth, Las Vegas; Thomas Richardson, Galveston.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.
Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trosscott are keepers of the Government Lighthouse at Sandy Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dread-ful cough and turned into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit; treated her, but in vain; she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere handful of bones. "Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at drugstore."

A FRIGHTFUL FATE.

A Carload of Dynamite Explodes Near Tarrytown, N. Y.

EIGHTEEN MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES.

Some of the Victims Literally Torn Limb from Limb—Fifteen Other Persons Are Mangled in a Horrible Manner.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 20.—At 11:20 Tuesday morning a work train on the Hudson River road was blown to atoms 1 1/2 miles below Tarrytown by an explosion of dynamite in transportation for blasting purposes in track construction. There were thirty-three men, including Italian laborers and train men, on board. Of these eighteen were instantly killed and fifteen terribly torn and wounded. Many of the dead were blown into the river, and live bodies still remain there unrecovered. The train was torn to atoms, the tracks ripped from their bed and a great hole many feet deep dug out of the earth, totally blocking traffic on the railroad for many hours.

The train was in charge of Conductor Connors and the gang of men was under Jerome Histon as boss. The dynamite was all stored on the first of the four flat cars composing the train. It consisted of twenty-four cases, and each case contained fifty pounds, making a total of 1,200 pounds.

The force of the explosion was terrific. The ground trembled as though from an earthquake, the walls of several Tarrytown houses were shaken and cracked, and in the Tarrytown streets the window glass fell in showers to the sidewalk. A spark from a passing engine is believed to have caused the explosion. The train was utterly demolished and the cars were scattered in all directions. The air was filled with splinters and debris, while the bodies of the luckless train crew were hurled, some torn limb from limb, in every direction. A terrible sight presented itself to those who hurried to the scene of the accident. The ground as far as could be seen was covered with debris. The track was torn up for a space of 600 feet, and the rails were bent into all kinds of shapes. Dead faces and mutilated bodies were strewn in all directions. The engine was blown out of all semblance of an engine and the flat cars disappeared.

Men were found dead in a hundred yards away from the track, while others were found dead in the excavations made by the deadly explosive. The wounded were suffering from most horrible mutilations, in many instances arms and legs being torn off, heads bruised and bodies bleeding. The scene reminded old soldiers of scenes after a bloody battle during the civil war. The dead and injured were conveyed to the Tarrytown depot, where the injuries of the wounded were looked after by a score of physicians who had been hurriedly summoned from all directions. The injured were afterward taken to different hospitals, five of the most severely injured being taken to Bellevue hospital in New York.

The dead were removed to Vanderbilt's morgue in Tarrytown. Ten of those killed were picked up along the track, while five were taken from the river. Three of the injured conveyed to the depot died shortly after reaching there. It is believed that there are still two bodies in the river, and that would bring the total number of killed up to twenty-five. From later reports it would seem that, instead of thirty-three men being on board the ill-fated train, the number was nearer fifty. Of those killed all were Italians save John McCarthy, timekeeper, of North Tarrytown; Frank Morrissey, who had charge of the dynamite, of Peekskill; and brakeman John Smith.

The explosion happened almost directly in front of the handsome residence of Richard Roe, the printing press manufacturer, while the mansions of Elliott F. Shepard and of John Rockefeller are close by. A panic seized the pupils in the high school of Tarrytown, and the scholars and teachers thought an earthquake had occurred. The children ran out of their classrooms into the street, but fortunately none were injured in the wild rush.

Freezing Out the Boatmen.
LOCKPORT, N. Y., May 20.—The situation of the canal men is pitiable. The ation of the canal men is pitiable. The railroad is bound to freeze out the boatmen if they carry grain for nothing, men and boats are lying up along this di-vision. At Buffalo and Tonawanda canal freight rates dropped to 2 1/2 cents on wheat and 1 1/2 cents on oats to the state of New York. No loads were taken. The New Yorkers in Buffalo lumbermen at Tonawanda and Buffalo have joined the New Yorkers in the boycott, and no lumber is being shipped. Trade on the canal is almost at a stand-still.

Changing Defeat to Victory.
The genius of Sheridan at Winchester changed defeat to victory. So when feeble adversaries in the shape of inefficient remedies fail to stay the progress of that obstinate and malignant foe, malaria, Hostetter's Stomach Bitter turns the tide—drives the enemy back. Nothing in materia medica, or out of it, compares with this as an opponent of every form of malarial disease. Chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious remittent and ague cake—it matters not—one and all are extirpated by the Bitters. To take a course of the great preparative in advance of the malarial season, is to buckle on, as it were, an armor of proof which defies attack. So fortified, so protected, you shall be seatless. Remember, too, that the Bitters is an eradicator of liver complaint, constipation, rheumatism, kidney complaints and dyspepsia.

HALF A DAY OF NEW AND VIGOROUS LIFE IN EVERY BOTTLE. A harmless, simple food that supersedes the use of stimulants and nervine, restores nervous system, and cures all ailments. In 1882, while hunting for health in South America, Dr. J. C. Moxie found the people using what they call FOOD PLANT as a substitute for food. He was struck by the fact that it was a simple food, and he determined to determine its character. Whenever used the patient said: "It gives me a new life. It cures my appetite. THE DINGEE MILLION.

Ingersoll Lockwood's Startling Contribution to Our "Possible Cases" Series—A Hair-Raising Episode in the Long Island Crematory.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891, ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.] Old New Yorkers may remember Dingee's famous club house in lower Greene street. From 1850 to 1856 it was the most fashionable gambling house in the metropolis, its founder, Alphonse Dingee, having been the first to introduce roulette and rouge et noir into the new world. It was in 1856 or a little later that it had the obligation of Cyrill to sell the business out. He retired to his country seat at Bricksburg, quite a palatial residence for those days, where he died shortly after, leaving a round million dollars and one child, a daughter, Daisy. Spite of the fact that she was popularly known throughout the country as the gambler's daughter, there were several respectable young men in the place who would have been only too happy to administer an estate worth a round million with Daisy thrown in for better or worse.

But Daisy Dingee knew what she wanted, and it was nothing more nor less than an alliance with the most aristocratic family in the country, to wit: the Delurys, whose large white mansion at the north end of the town was as tumble down and shabby looking as Daisy's was neat, fresh and well kept. Miss Dingee, therefore, proceeded to throw herself at the head of one Monmouth Delury, mentally and physically a colorless sort of an individual, who for want of sufficient intellect to make an honest living passed his time going to seed with the thousands or so acres of land belonging to him and his maiden sisters, Hetty, Prudence and Martha, three women who walked as stiff as they talked, although they never were known to discuss any subject other than the Delury family.

When Daisy's proposition was made known to them they tried to faint, but were too stiff to fall over and were obliged to content themselves with gasping.

"What, Daisy Dingee marry our brother, the head of the Delury family?" But it was the first idea that had ever entered the brother's head, and he clung to it with a parent's affection for his firstborn. In a few months Mr. Monmouth Delury set out for Paris with that proverbial speed with which Americans betake themselves to the French capital when occasion offers. They found it a much pleasanter place than Bricksburg. Delury improved rapidly and Daisy felt quite in love with him, made her will in his favor, contracted the typhoid fever and died.

Whereupon the really disconsolate widower set for his three sisters to join him. They had but one objection to going—that was to part company with the dear old homestead, but they overcame it the day after receiving Monmouth's letter, which happened to be a Friday, and took the Saturday's steamer.

To confess the truth, the Delurys had been so land-poor that their sparse, aristocratic figures were rather the result of necessity than inclination. Six months of Paris life under the benign protection of Dingee's round million made different women of them. It was wonderful to see a stamping Parisian dressmaker and restaurateur effected in their figures. They became round and plump. They stopped talking about Bricksburg, signed themselves the Misses Delury, of New York, enrolled themselves as patrons of art, gave elegant dinners, and in a very short time, set up as models to being the leaders of the American colony.

But remorseless fate was at their heels. Figaro unearthed the secret of old Dingee's million and the Delurys suddenly found themselves the sensation of Paris, the butt of ridicule in the comic papers. Monmouth had been in poor health for several months and this killed him.

Angry as million was in the eye of the law divided among his three sisters, but fate willed it otherwise, for the following year Hetty, the eldest, died of Roman fever and six months later Prudence fell a victim to rat poison in a small hotel at Grasse, a city of delightful odors in the south of France, whither she had gone in a search of balmy air for her sister Martha, who had suddenly developed symptoms of consumption.

Left thus alone in the world with old Dingee's million and an incurable ailment Martha's only ambition was to reach Bricksburg and die in the old white Delury mansion. It seemed to her that its great, spacious rooms would enable her to breathe more easily and to fight death off for possibly another year.

It was not to be. She got as far as Paris when old Dingee's million again changed hands, going this time by will to Martha's only relatives, twin brothers, John and William Winkletip, produce dealers in Washington street, New York.

The will was a peculiar one as was to be expected. It gave, of course and bequeathed all the property popularly known as the "Dingee Million" to my cousins John and William Winkletip, produce dealers, of New York, as joint tenants for their lives and the life of each of them, with remainder over to the eldest son of the survivor, his heirs and assigns forever, provided that said remainder men should be full age at the time of his father's decease, and shall thereupon enter the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church and devote his life and the income of this estate to the encouragement of legislative enactment throughout the United States for the suppression of gambling and wager laying.

In default of such male heir, the Dingee million was to be divided up among certain religious and ecclesiastical institutions.

When the calligrapher from Paris in forming them of their extraordinary luck reached the Winkletip brothers, they were down in the cellar of the old apartment house, as the "Dingee" business, with their long lean cheeks, busily engaged in sorting onions. As the Winkletips were only a little past fifty, and as strong as hickory knots, their families were quite satisfied to get only a life estate in the Dingee million, for, barring accidents, the brothers had twenty-five or thirty years to live yet.

But their distant land son, Cyrus, who would soon be of age, but he was a worthless wight, whose normal condition was alcoholic stupor, barely characterized with sufficient lucidity to enable him to distinguish rotten vegetables from sound.

"He will die years before his father," everyone remarked, "and then the gambler's money will go where it ought to."

There had been a fire next door to the Winkletips about the time the good news had arrived from Paris; a huge warehouse had burned down leaving a brick wall towering sixty feet above the old wooden tenement in front of the crematorium. "There is no time to save anything," Garth, Wis., is completely surrounded by fire, and everyone in the town has been fighting the flames.

THE FRUIT CROP ALMOST RUINED.

Andrew Larson of Afton, Badly Hurt in a Runaway—Tobacco Plants Almost Ready to Set—County Creameries Doing a Big Business.

JOHNSTOWN, May 20.—A hard frost here Saturday night nearly put an end to all prospects for fruit this year, although we never had a better show for a bountiful crop. Apples, cherries and strawberries in full bloom. There has been no rain since the 21st of April, and much of the later sown grain will never come up until it rains. The meadows and pastures, which made a fine starting early, are beginning to show the effects of the drought. Farmers are beginning to feel blue over the prospects.

The team was caught by men near by and were not much hurt. Friends of the injured man took him home and Dr. Will Palmer came down and attended to the injured limb.

FRUIT IN PLENTY.

Janesville Markets Well Supplied With Vegetable Too.

STRAWBERRIES ARE QUITE CHEAP.

Timely Suggestions as to What Will Help to Make Up a Good Dinner—Pine Apples and Bananas Slightly Higher Priced Than Last Year.

Tired of roast beef? Well, that's all right? With advancing summer weather you ought to have a longing for something lighter. Vegetables and fruits then have their turn. Who does not like to get his teeth upon a crisp and tender radish in the spring? The tasty and succulent root seems to impart life and vigor. The tender shoots of the early lettuce with proper condiments make a dish fit for an epicure. The toothsome early strawberry the juicy, delicious orange, the fat and fragrant banana, the pineapple, and likewise the early pea, spinach, beans, cabbage and even onions, are each and all efficient aids to nature in preparing humanity for the summer and all of these good things are plentiful in Janesville markets.

A Strawberry Run.

Just now local dealers are having what is known in fruit dealers parlance as a "strawberry run." Later on it will be cherries, then blackberries and raspberries, then peaches. Apples wind up the season.

The earliest strawberries come from Mississippi and Louisiana. They are generally the smallest and poorest received during the season. This year the crop has been unusually large and early down here and the people of Janesville consequently have had cheap strawberries. The southern supply is, however, soon exhausted and the dealers are getting them as far north as Tennessee. Those in northern Illinois are turning and will soon be on the market. When all these are gone then comes the Michigan and the home supply, and they are the very best in the lot.

B. H. BALDWIN IN CHARGE.

He is in His Old Place as C. & S. W. Yard Master.

Train Master F. R. Moulton has not returned from Fort Howard. The announcement was made today, however, that B. H. Baldwin will remain in charge of the Chicago & Northwestern yards during the day, and David Griffin would have charge of the night crew.

Alvah L. Hemmens has been placed in charge of the transfer department. Fred Capelle has succeeded Hemmens as day bill clerk, while Charles Russell checks way bills at the desk formerly used by Capelle. All these changes were made necessary by the placing of Baldwin in charge of the yards.

Switchmen Are Still Out.

Not one of the discharged switchmen have been taken back as yet, and none have applied for work. The men are somewhat discouraged at the situation, and blame the trainmen for doing switching and thereby adding the road to oust the switching crews.

"It was not right," one of the men said, "that trainmen should do our work. If they were in trouble and our grand master told us to run the trains we would have refused."

Notes from the Depot.

Robert Hughes, night operator at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul depot, visited with Mineral Point friends yesterday, and returned today.

Fred Maderia, of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad, paid Janesville a visit today.

Will Honor Dead Heroes.

Citizens Taking Steps Toward an Observance of Memorial Day.

A goodly number of people responded to the call for a citizens' meeting at the council chamber for the purpose of making arrangements to assist the Grand Army in observing Memorial Day. W. T. Vankirk was chosen chairman of the meeting, and O. H. Brand secretary.

After stating the object of the meeting, the chair called for an expression of opinion as to the best course to adopt. J. C. Greer, of the Grand Army, remarked that it was necessary to raise a small sum of money to defray expenses, and thought this could be accomplished by subscription. The chair appointed a committee of general arrangements, consisting of D. P. Smith, C. H. Kinney, Mrs. A. H. Sheldon, C. B. Conrad and J. A. Dennison, and a finance committee was appointed, consisting of L. H. Becker, H. F. Bliss, Michael Murphy.

The committee of arrangements was instructed to utilize extra funds in building a permanent stand in the cemetery.

It was announced that the Sunday school children and juvenile temples desired to join on this occasion and assist in the services, and the secretary was instructed to notify all societies to send a representative to meet with the general committee on Thursday evening, May 20, at the council chamber, and also to notify the general committee to meet with the G. A. R. committee this evening at Post hall.

There was considerable enthusiasm manifest at the meeting, and the indications are that the citizens of Janesville will not be behind other cities in observing the day.

His Tobacco Was Poisoned.

Death of Mike Heffron, Who Carried Rat Poison in His Pocket.

Mike Heffron, the Walworth farmer who was thought to have committed suicide, is found to have met death accidentally. A few days ago he purchased arsenic for the purpose of killing rats, and put the bottle carelessly in his pocket, together with chewing tobacco. The cork became loosened and the tobacco was thoroughly permeated with the poison. Upon using the tobacco he remarked that it was exceedingly bitter, but did not think anything more of it, and it was not until he was beyond help that his friends thought of poisoning.

WHAT WAS IN HIS POCKET.
